Bridging “ELSCO Transformers” and “The Electric Service Company” across third-party directories

PREPARED FOR ELSCO TRANSFORMERS · APRIL 2026 · LIZ MICIK

Why this matters. The Agent Readiness Audit identified that ELSCO’s entity profile is split across two names in third-party data. Modern social and business profiles (LinkedIn, Crunchbase, Facebook, YouTube) use “ELSCO Transformers.” Legacy B2B directories (BBB, ZoomInfo, Manta, Yellow Pages, NDT) still index the company under “Electric Service Co.” / “The Electric Service Company.” The schema work in your audit Quick Wins bridges the two names in your structured data. This guide bridges the names in their data, so AI training corpora that ingest those directory listings have a clean signal that both names refer to one company. Six surfaces. Roughly 20–45 minutes per surface for someone with the right credentials.

Recommended naming formula

Use one consistent formula across all six surfaces so every directory tells AI engines the same story. Two acceptable patterns:

Primary: ELSCO Transformers
Also Known As / Formerly: The Electric Service Company
Legal Name: Electric Service Co., Inc.

Either order works (“ELSCO Transformers (formerly The Electric Service Company)” or “Electric Service Co., Inc., dba ELSCO Transformers”) as long as both names appear together in the same record and the website URL points to elscotransformers.com.

The six directory surfaces

1. Better Business Bureau

~30 min

Status: Listed as “Electric Service Co., Inc.” in the Cincinnati BBB database. Not currently BBB Accredited.

Current listing: bbb.org/us/oh/cincinnati/profile/transformers/electric-service-co-inc-0292-1177529

Claim listing: bbb.org/get-listed

Business login: bbb.org/account/login

What to update: Once claimed, update the business name field to surface both names (e.g., “ELSCO Transformers / The Electric Service Company” or add a dba field if available). Verify website URL points to elscotransformers.com. Add or refresh the business description so it includes both names. Confirm the address (5331 Hetzel St) and phone (1-800-232-9002) match every other directory listing.

2. Google Business Profile

~45 min

Status: Needs a separate audit. If the profile shows the legacy name as primary, or if two separate profiles exist for the same physical business, that’s a major local-AT-citation signal-strength loss.

Add or claim: business.google.com/add

Manage profile: business.google.com

Request ownership of an existing profile: support.google.com/business/answer/4566671

What to update: First, search Google Maps for both “ELSCO Transformers Cincinnati” and “Electric Service Company Cincinnati” to confirm whether one profile or two exist. If two: claim both, then submit a merge/duplicate request through Google Business support. If one: claim it, set primary name to ELSCO Transformers, add “The Electric Service Company” as an alternate or in the description. Add the founding year (1912) to the “Opening Date” field if available. Verify category, hours, services, photos.

3. ZoomInfo

~30 min

Status: Canonical record exists at zoominfo.com/c/electric-service-co/35228924. The description bridges both names (“Electric Service Co is also known as ELSCO Transformers”), but the URL slug and primary record name are still the legacy name.

Current listing: zoominfo.com/c/electric-service-co/35228924

Claim/verify profile: privacyrequest.zoominfo.com/company/verify

Privacy / data correction center: zoominfo.com/about-zoominfo/privacy-manage-profile

What to update: After claiming, request a primary-record name update from “Electric Service Co.” to “ELSCO Transformers” with the legacy name retained as an alternate. Verify and update the company description, industry classification, location, employee count, and the website URL. The URL slug may not be changeable, but the displayed primary name is.

4. Yellow Pages ~25 min

Status: Listed as "Electric Service Co - Cincinnati, OH 45227."

Claim listing: yellowpages.com/claim-your-listing

Business login: accounts.yellowpages.com/claim_login

Phone support: 1-866-794-0889

What to update: Claim the listing, then update the business name field to include both names. Yellow Pages typically verifies ownership by calling the listed phone number with a verification code — have someone available to take that call. Update the website URL, the categories (Transformers, Electrical Equipment Manufacturers), and the description to include both names plus the in-stock + emergency-replacement positioning.

5. Manta ~25 min

Status: Listed as "Electric Service Company Cincinnati OH, 45227."

Current listing: manta.com/c/mrn0cxw/electric-service-company

Claim path: Click "Claim This Business" / "Is this your business?" on the listing page itself. Manta does not have a single canonical claim URL; the claim flow is initiated from the listing.

What to update: Claim the listing through the listing page link. Once claimed, update the business name field to include both names, verify the address and phone, refresh the description with the modern positioning, and add the website URL pointing to elscotransformers.com. Add product/service categories that match the modern catalog (medium-voltage transformers, dry-type, padmount, emergency replacement).

6. NDT.org Industrial Directory ~20 min

Status: Listed as "Electric Service Co." under vendor record 41641.

Current listing: ndt.org/vendor.asp?ObjectID=41641

Add or update: NDT.org accepts free additions and updates via the "Add an item" / "Add your company to the ndt.org industrial database" option in the directory header.

If the existing listing is locked: Contact NDT.org through their general contact form (linked from the site footer) and request the existing record be updated, or submit a new entry with the modern name and request a merge.

What to update: Update the company name field to include both names, refresh the description, verify the website URL, and add product/service tags relevant to ELSCO's current catalog. Note that NDT.org caters specifically to the non-destructive testing industry — lower-volume directory but still ingested by AI training corpora.

Process tip. Do these in the order above — BBB and Google Business Profile first because they have the highest weight in AI training corpora and the most direct local-search impact. ZoomInfo next because its primary-record-name update propagates to many downstream B2B tools that license ZoomInfo data. Yellow Pages, Manta, and NDT can be batched together in a single afternoon. Keep a brief log of what was updated where (date, primary name set, alternate-name field used, description saved) — useful for the audit follow-up and for any future directory cleanup.

What this won't fix on its own. Directory updates feed AI training corpora over time — they don't change overnight what models like Claude or ChatGPT know about your entity, because those models train on data at fixed intervals. The schema work in the audit Quick Wins (the `alternateName` / `legalName` / `@id` / `sameAs` bridge in your Organization schema) is the parallel fix that influences engines that read the live web at inference time. Both layers together close the engine-variance gap most reliably.
